

Pressure Builds to Permit U. S., Russia Trade

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressures are mounting on the Eisenhower administration to lower some of the trade barriers so as to permit more trade between the United States and Russia and its satellites.

Many top officials responsible for international economic policy feel some decisions will have to be made fairly soon. Meanwhile, splits appear to be developing between the interests favoring trade and those wishing to maintain maximum economic pressure on the Communist bloc.

The issue may come into focus upon an application by Minnesota businessman Dwayne Andreas for permission to export 20,000 tons of butter and 3,000 tons of cottonseed oil to Russia. These are not strategic materials and there is no policy barrier against them except a general policy under which the government reserves the right to bar any exports to Russia contrary to the security interests of the United States.

Officials said today the Andreas application is now before an inter-departmental committee made up of representatives of the State, Agriculture and Commerce departments. It deals with broad issues of economic security embracing the particular problem of East-West trade. This of course is not exclusively an American problem. In fact, it has been mostly an allied problem.

There are several forces pressing strongly for official sanction of greater trade with the Soviet Union and satellite countries.

Deadline Here for Quarterly Tax Payers

WASHINGTON (UP) — Some 7,000,000 taxpayers who pay their income tax quarterly have until midnight tonight to square themselves for 1953.

But that deadline they must make their final quarterly tax payment on last year's income as well as make adjustments if annual estimates were too low when made last March.

It also is the deadline for filing estimates if one was not filed and if the taxpayers now know he made enough so that he is required to file such a declaration.

Persons who must make their declaration of estimated income are:

Every citizen or resident who expects to receive wages, subject to withholding, or more than $4,500 as $6,000 for each exemption; or anyone whose income from all other sources, on which there is no withholding, is more than $100.

There are penalties for not filing an estimate, for filing an estimate which is wrong by more than a certain percentage, and for filing an estimate but failing to make quarterly payments.

Russia Could Clean Up on Butter Deal

By The Associated Press

If the deal for sale of surplus butter to the Russians goes through, the Soviet government stands to make perhaps 500 per cent profit. The Russians will sell the butter through their state retail channels at prices comparable to those charged for Soviet, Argentine and Danish butter now on sale — roughly 30 rubles per kilogram, which is the equivalent of $3.40 per pound.

Since the butter will presumably have been purchased at the export prices of the Commodity Credit Corp. — 40 to 50 cents a pound, the Soviet government stands to make a profit of 2.90 to $3 a pound, minus of course the costs of shipment and distribution.

Meanwhile the whole thing will have cost American taxpayers from 15-25 cents a pound, since the U. S. government price to American farmers who produce the butter is 45 cents per pound.

Lafayette to Get Road 160 Resurfaced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission decided yesterday to widen the 19 miles of Highway 71 between Fayetteville and Rogers, the state's second most heavily traveled route, at an estimated cost of $1,100,000.

The commission gave up, at least for the present, on an earlier proposal for eventual expansion of the highway to four lanes. Residents of the sections said they were unable to furnish the "free" right of way requested for a four lane facility.

Under the new plan, additional right of way will be required only where the road is relocated or where it is otherwise necessary for proper construction.

Where curb-to-curb pavement is needed in cities or other highly developed areas, the state will provide additional surfacing but the local governmental unit must provide curb, gutters and storm sewer drainage.

The commission said residents of the section have agreed to the new plan.

Highway 160 in Lafayette County will be paved for 10 miles west of Bradley to John Corners with the aid of an unprecedented $20,000 from county turnback funds and another $30,000 from property owners along the route.

The state will bear remainder of the estimated $200,000 cost.

Lafayette County Judge Brooks Parker told the commission he would relinquish $20,000 from his county's share of highway turnback from the state for the next two years in the commission would pave the road. The commission agreed immediately.

The commission was told that the property owners, who started the agitation for the paving, have deposited their $50,000 with the Lafayette treasurer to be turned over to the commission when bids are received.

Judge Parker will pay his $20,000 in eight $2,500 quarterly installments beginning April 1. Highway turnback customarily is used by county judges for improving county roads and not for state roads such as Highway 160.

The commission heard two opposing delegations express their views on where an access road from Faulkner County to the new Little Rock Air Force Base near Jacksonville should be located.

One group wants the road along the established route of Highway 5; the other wants it west of Highway 5.

The commission told both delegations it hoped to reach a decision soon.

Contracts were awarded on eight construction jobs at a cost of $1,428,032 and the only two bids received on a ninth job, for five miles of gravel surfacing on selected sections of Highway 150 in Mississippi County were rejected.

Hospital May Pick New Chief

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three trustees of the State Hospital met here today in secret session to talk over their search for a superintendent of the mental institution.

Dr. Euclid Smith, chairman of the board, told newsmen that there would be no announcement on their actions today. He said that when the board decided on a new superintendent it would be announced at a called news conference.

Harold Hedges Jr., Little Rock, said four applicants out of a total of 10 were considered acceptable. He didn't identify them.

Dr. C. C. Odum resigned as superintendent in November.

Cancer Cells Are Used to Detect Polio

By JOHN GIGER

NEW YORK (INS) — Mass-produced cancer cells, turned out in huge batches on laboratory assembly lines have been used to win a victory over another great killer — polio — scientists said today.

Reports prepared for delivery at a medical conference in New York show the cancer cells will detect polio infections before any symptoms appear — and when paralysis still might be prevented.

This first, fast test to diagnose polio is only one of a dozen new uses that may make the little bits of cancer tissue a universal testing agent rivaling the familiar white rat, but a far more accurate one.

Details of the new achievement came from Drs. Jerome Syvertson and William F. Schrager of the University of Minnesota and Dr. George Gey of Johns Hopkins University. All are pioneers in the cancer-and-polio work.

Laboratory technicians can inject material from possible polio patients into the test tube full of cancer cells — which are highly vulnerable to polio viruses — and tell at a glance in as little as 12 hours whether the disease actually is present.

If it is cancer cells will be destroyed if it isn't they will be unharmed.

However the scientists emphasized that it is far too early to tell whether there is any hope of using polio as a weapon against cancer in patients.

In the modification of the test researchers can tell whether a patient is immune to polio or needs protection against it.

In another they can identify the type of polio virus causing an infection.

Bill Prepared for Air Force Academy

By FRANK ELAZER

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Armed Services Committee hoped to send to the House today a bill to let the air force build its own service academy at a cost which might run to $175,000,000.

As the committee moved toward certain approval of the measure, controversy mounted over where to locate the proposed "West Point of the Air" and how the site should be chosen. The bill's backers feared the controversy might impede passage.

Latest to propose a site for the academy were Rep. V. V. Brown (R-O.) and Paul F. Schenck (R-O.) who dropped identical bill in the House hopper to locate the school "in the Miami Valley area" of Ohio.

Their bills were piled atop a dozen or more earlier measures naming sites for the measures and were expected to be followed by others, despite pleas by committee Chairman Dewey Short (R-Mo) to postpone arguments over the site until after the academy is authorized.

Air Force Secretary Howard E. Talbott yesterday reiterated that no site had been selected or had an inside track with the air force. Members questioned the statement after President Eisenhower, at a news conference Wednesday, expressed surprise at Talbott's plans to set up a new survey board and said he already knew exactly where the academy ought to be located.

Boards of directors of the two companies agreed on terms of the consolidation yesterday.

N.K.'s Nash and Kelvinator divisions and Hudson agreed to become separate divisions of the new corporation. Kelvinator is the electrical appliance-producing division of N-K Corp.

Also yesterday Judge Lile Brown gave James M. Kennedy a 3-year suspended sentence on a carnal abuse charge.

McCarthy Tries to Woo Back Bolting Aides

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and the Democrats who have boycotted his Senate investigations subcommittee for six months are angling for a negotiated peace.

McCarthy, before leaving for Boston to conduct public hearings for his all-Republican subcommittee, announced willingness to consider a relaxation of the exclusive power he has asserted to hire and fire the subcommittee's staff.

The Democrats led by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) voiced cautious willingness for peace talks. No date was set.

McCarthy told reporters that "for the first time" he now expects an agreement will be reached, and that he wants it before the month's end.

The two sides got down to cases at a closed-door meeting yesterday of the Senate Government Operations Committee, parent of the subcommittee and also headed by McCarthy.

McClellan and Senators Symington (D-Mo) and Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) the three who quit the subcommittee in a row over McCarthy's firing and hiring powers, attended. They retain membership on the parent group.

McCarthy told a news conference after the meeting that:

1. The Democrats had no tried to "hamstring" the subcommittee financially and had joined in a unanimous vote approving his request for $200,000 of Senate funds to finance its work until Jan. 31, 1954. The request is subject to approval by the Rules Committee and the full Senate.

2. "It appears for the first time we may work out a system where by the chairman has the right to hire a staff and fire it, and members can ask for the right to discharge individuals."

McCarthy said he feels that "no one who is personally obnoxious to the minority of the committee should be retained on the staff."

The Democrats quit last July after the Republican majority outvoted them and gave McCarthy the sole personnel powers he had claimed.

Complains About News Security

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man named to handle them says he has received "around a dozen" complaints about news being bottled up since President Eisenhower's new security information order went into effect a month ago today.

Some of the complaints deal with matters that don't seem to come within jurisdiction of the order at all, while some of the others may — there hasn't been time to decide," said Bernard M. Shanley, Eisenhower's special counsel.

He added in an interview that about half the protests filed so far deal with newsmen's unsuccessful efforts to have the administration make public a breakdown of reasons why 2,200 workers have been separated from federal jobs as security risks since Eisenhower took office.

The President has said his information order was designed to assure the public a freer flow of news about the government without jeopardizing national security. He designated Shanley to receive complaints from newspapers and other news media about operation of the order.

Shanley said he is doubtful whether he has any jurisdiction with respect to complaints that no breakdown has been given on reasons for the 2,200 separations from federal jobs.

"But I'm not going to split hairs on that," he said. "If there is anything I can do to help the press or that matter, I'm willing to try."

The "big trouble," he added, is that it is "almost impossible to provide a breakdown by specific reasons as to why he decided the 2,200 were security risks and shouldn't work for the government."

Citing an individual case, he said he had an FBI report on one federal worker as a user of narcotics, a companion of known Communists and "a crook."

Firm Sues City of Nettleton

JONESBORO (AP) — A Little Rock firm today sued the city of Nettleton for $32,589.98 for a water and sewerage system it installed in the town.

The suit was filed in Craighead Circuit Court by J. W. Allen of Little Rock, acting as the Eagle Home and Building Insulators.

Nettleton officials withheld payment for the 1953 job because of a controversy over a deep well to supply the city with water. The city claimed sand seepage clogged the well last summer, forcing the city to buy its water from Jonesboro.

Coin Machines Ordered Destroyed

Texarkana — An Arkansas federal court decree of forfeiture was worth issued Thursday against 61,051 worth of "gambling devices" owned by Gwyn E. Russell of Hempstead County. The property which includes two coin operating machines about 600 prizes such as a metal horses, pencil sharpeners, cigarette lighters was ordered destroyed by the U. S. marshal.

Resolution Rallies for Treaty Attack

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A resolution circulated among most senators may become the rallying point of the Eisenhower administration's attack on the proposed Bricker amendment to limit the government's treaty powers.

The suggested resolution was sent around to all but about 10 of the 96 senators last Saturday by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Unlike the proposal by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and an administration-backed substitute by Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California the resolution, it would amend the Constitution. It would simply put the Senate on record as affirming certain attitudes toward treaties and their domestic effect. It would also require a recorded roll call vote when the Senate ratifies treaties.

Bricker argues that an amendment to the Constitution is needed to insure that basic American liberties shall not be taken away by treaties which, he says, might supersede domestic law and the Constitution itself. Lawyers disagree as to whether this is a real danger.

President Eisenhower has said Bricker's proposal would hamper his conduct of foreign affairs, while agreeing that no treaty should contravene domestic law.

There has been no public response to Kefauver's resolution idea from his colleagues. But administration forces are watching carefully for signs that it might break a deadlock on the highly emotional issue.

Cases Filed Over Greenville Bridge

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Two large utility companies filed motions in district court here today seeking transfer of the controversial Greenville bridge case to federal jurisdiction.

The Arkansas Power and Light Co. and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. asked that the City of Greenville sue against them be heard in federal court.

A complaint was filed in Chicago county Chancery Court Wednesday by Attorney Ovid Switzer, Crossett, seeking an estimated $500,000 in back rental from three corporations for their use of gas and power lines across the Mississippi River bridge between Arkansas and Greenville, Miss.

Ohmer Burnside, Lake Village, attorney for the Tennessee Gas Transmission Corp., said yesterday he would file a motion similar to the one filed by the telephone and power companies.

The motions for transfer to federal jurisdiction were assigned to be heard by Judge Thomas Trimble. No date was set for a hearing.

Jonesboro Store Guttured by Fire

JONESBORO (AP) — Fire gutted a two-story building housing a furniture store and a warehouse here this morning, causing damages estimated at $30,000.

The structure housed the Tillman Furniture Co., sales room and the Taylor-Horton Furniture Co. warehouse.

Fire Chief Rufus Coleman said firemen fought the blaze for 45 minutes before bringing it under control. He said the fire apparently started in the rear of Tillman's sales room and spread to the warehouse.

Snow and Cold to Follow Rain in Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Rains pelted Arkansas again today and the U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock forecast a repeat performance of last weekend's weather picture — snow and cold.

Arkansas' heaviest rainfall yesterday was recorded at Nashville — 1.72 inches.

Bulletin

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U. S. Weather Bureau here said this afternoon that the bureau's New Orleans office says there is a possibility of a few tornadoes this afternoon and early tonight in south Arkansas and Mississippi.

The bureau said the storm line extended from 50 miles east of Little Rock, Ark., to Tupelo, Miss., and 30 miles on each side of the line.

The downpour began Wednesday night, bringing an end to a cold spell that followed snowstorms last weekend.

About 20 inches measured in an inch or more and every point reported some rain yesterday.

Among the high rainfall totals: Clarendon, 15.0 inches; Booneville, 1.80; Subiaco, 1.28; Pine Bluff, 1.17; Fort Smith, 1.13; El Dorado, 1.07; Searcy, .97; and Little Rock, 1.05.

Yesterday's low temperature was 32 degrees at Batesville. Other lows included 33 at Newport, at Wynnum Ridge, Dardanelle, Morrilton and 35 at El Dorado and Fort Smith.

The bureau said rain tonight may mean that the same weather pattern will happen in the northeastern part of the state tomorrow.

A wave of cold polar air moved into the upper Mississippi Valley today and turned eastward, promising rapidly falling temperatures and snow storms.

A special cold wave warning was issued for Iowa by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

The storm center which reached Eastern South Dakota early today, was expected to reach northern Illinois tonight and the Indiana-Ohio border by Saturday morning.

Snow or snow flurries were forecast ahead of the storm center in Iowa, Minnesota, upper Michigan and Northwest Wisconsin and Illinois and Indiana.

Meanwhile, temperatures in the 30s were reported in Middle Atlantic States and light snow fell in New England. A couple of rain storms wet the South from Arkansas to the Atlantic.

The northern cold wave has already sent the mercury falling ready to 20 below zero at Cold Springs, Mont., six below at Minot, N.D., 10 below at International Falls, Minn., and four below at Cadillac, Mich.

Some light drizzle was reported in the lower Ohio Valley, the Ohio Coast areas

West, Russia Gap Shown by Past Events

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nothing shows better than events of the past three days the gap between the United States and Russia and how wide is the chance for agreement or their biggest problems.

After many speeches here and in Moscow about betting together, exchanges of notes extending over months, and much maneuvering, the two powers ended the point of falling down in the same room.

No talk about what they want to talk about. Just talk about organizing the time and place for the real talks.

The three allies — United States, Britain, France — have exchanged notes with Russia since last summer trying to set up a meeting of foreign ministers.

Agreement at last. They'd meet in Berlin, Jan. 25. But where in Berlin? In East Berlin, controlled by Russia. Or in West Berlin, controlled by the Western Allies.

Representatives of the four powers in Berlin met to settle the details. All this week they talked. The Russians held out for half the city to be in East Berlin. This country wanted more than half in West Berlin.

Last night the four representatives gave up, dumped their disagreement back in the laps of high officials.

But even if the preliminaries are settled, the United States and Russia are in complete disagreement on their major European problem: Germany.

The United States wants East and West Germany united, no doubt in the belief that the East Germans, after eight years under the Russians, would rejoice in lining up with the West Germans as United States allies.

What would this mean to the United States? Secretary of State Acheson made clear in a speech Monday night what hopes this country has for Germany.

He outlined America's new military strategy based on West European defense against Russian attack. Backed up by this country's military for "immediate" retaliation.

He said Europe cannot be defended unless Germany is allowed to arm. He said it can't do so unless the present armistice agreements, although it could join a United States army if France would go along.

But the last thing Russia wants is a rearm Germany. It spent the last year by many devices to avoid this.

Dulles could hardly settle with the Russians at Berlin for a discussion of Germany. And Russia could only yield to him.

President Eisenhower and Russian Premier Malenkov made speeches during 1953 on relations between the two countries. In De- cember Eisenhower suggested: "They sit down and talk about ending some of their atomic ma- chine gun business. If that succeeds, the United States maybe they could go on to talk about getting rid of the atom bomb."

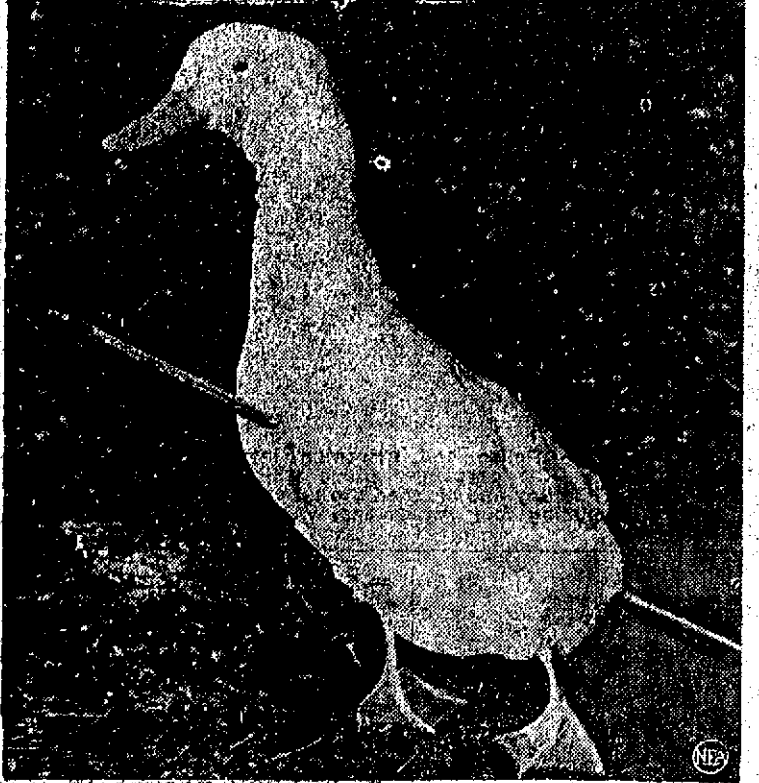

Dulles responded with the com- mitment that "banning the bomb" would come first, and reserved the right to talk about that if the two powers sit down to discuss a renunciation of the atom.

During week Dulles and the Russian Ambassador began talks. On Monday American-Russian talks on the atom, as Eisenhower sug- gested.

But in his Monday night talk on this country's new military strate- gy, Dulles said this country, no longer will depend on huge armed forces, matching man for man with the Communists in the field, but will try to prevent any attack by standing ready to blast the at- tacker with means of its own choosing. What means? Dulles

Port Officials Call Godfrey 'Reckless'

NEW YORK (AP) — The Port of New York Authority, brushing aside Arthur Godfrey's contention that a strong cross wind caused his plane to nearly hit the Teterboro (N.J.) Airport control tower, has accused the radio-TV star of careless, and reckless flying.

Godfrey had said earlier, and repeated last night on his televi- sion show, that a 70-degree cross wind of about 40 miles per hour caught his twin-engine craft just as he took off from Teterboro a week ago.

From Miami Beach Godfrey said: "It was unintentional; and if I'd scared the boys in the tower I am sorry."

Later, Fred M. Glass, director of aviation for the port authority, which operates the major airports in the New York metropolitan area, including Teterboro, said he noted Godfrey's explanation but told the Civil Aeronautics Admin- istration: "It is difficult for anyone fam- iliary with the aerodynamics and the characteristics of the DC3 (Godfrey's plane) to believe that wind of that velocity reported could possibly cause such a man- euver if the pilot and co-pilot wished to keep the plane on course."

First reports had said Godfrey, upset because he was not allowed to take off on his favorite runway, "buzzed" the control tower.

The port authority asked the CAA, if facts substantiate it, to discipline Godfrey "to demonstrate vigorously and unmistakably that reckless flying will not be tol- erated in this area."

Maximum disciplinary action would be revocation of Godfrey's pilot's license.

Glass claimed the wind, when Godfrey took off, was at 20 to 30 miles an hour.

From the information he had, Glass said, "it would appear that the aircraft was operated carelessly and recklessly and in disregard of the traffic pattern described for Teterboro Airport in violation of civil air regulations."

Glass said the airport manager checked wind velocity right after the incident. Two other planes had cleared the same runway a few minutes before Godfrey took off.

"Neither of the aircraft taking off before the DC3 experienced any difficulties," Glass went on, "al- though both of them are far light- er than the DC3."

In his telecast last night, God- frey said the CAA had not con- tacted him on the matter, and added: "I will be happy to cooperate with the Port of New York Authority or anyone else who might want to investigate the takeoff."

In a Florida press conference yesterday, Godfrey said: "Jimmie, I thought everybody knew what happened. The big trouble is that the Port of New York Authority closed our runway be- cause planes using it — in calm weather — had to fly over Has- brock Heights, N. J.

"That's okay in calm weather, but in windy weather the runway designated for use frequently re- quires a cross-wind takeoff. That's what happened to me.

"I came pretty close to the control tower, close enough, in fact, to note that nobody was vis- ible in the tower. I don't blame them for getting out, but it wasn't intentional."

because the low bidder said it had miscalculated.

Graves Bros. of Pine Bluff noti- fied the commission that it had erred in compiling its $7,286.40 low bid and announced it would default and forfeit a $400 bid bond if it were awarded the contract.

The commission rejected the Graves bid and the only other one received — one of $14,652.1 from Mississippi Valley Contracting Co. of Paragould.

Largest contract awarded was for paving 8.8 miles on the Pulaski County end of the new Little Rock-Benton Highway. This went to Ben M. Hogan of Little Rock for $855,349. Hogan also is contractor for paving the Saline County end and is working on that portion now.

In addition to the Fayetteville-Rogers Highway 71 project, the commission programmed these jobs subject to free right of way acquisition and to approval by the Bureau of Public Roads:

Widening of Highway 65 from Pine Bluff to Dexter and from Pine Bluff to the intersection of Highway 81 at an estimated cost of $845,000.

Widening of Highway 22 from Fort Smith to the intersection of Highway 96 at an estimated cost of $449,000.

Construction of the St. Francis River bridge on Highway 25 in Greene County at an estimated cost of $420,000.

Widening of Highway 67 from Walnut Ridge to Hoxie at an estimated cost of $62,000.

Truman Blames Nobody for Wreck

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP) — Former President Harry S. Truman says no one is to blame for the three-way accident in which his 1953 car was banged up.

The accident occurred yesterday morning as Mr. Truman drove from his home at Independence, Mo. to his home in Kansas City office. He said he turned off a boulevard (the Paseo) onto 8th St. when his year-old car was struck by another. Then Mr. Truman's automobile skidded into a third.

The streets were slick from a freezing mist which blan- keted Kansas City during the night and early morning.

"As far as putting the blame on anybody," Mr. Truman said, "there's none. It was unavoidable."

The former president is a veter- an driver, and the mishap was believed his first, al- though that sint could not be checked definitely.

Mr. Truman often has told of a long motor trip he made, before he attained national prominence, when he was a judge (commissioner) in Jack- son County, Missouri.

The county planned to build a new courthouse and Mr. Tru- man took off on a nationwide tour of many thousand miles to see for himself what re- cently constructed public build- ings looked like, what novel features they had, and what they cost.

The former President during this growing experience gained the 10 years he was a senator, from 1935 to 1945, since he and Mrs. Truman, made fre- quent auto trips between In- dependence and Washington, a 1,050-mile journey.

McCarthy Sees 'Sabotaging' of Farmers

By ROY CALVIN

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) charged today that "old Wallace and Bran- pan holdovers" in the agriculture department are trying to "sabot- age" farmers.

That was McCarthy's reaction to Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's declaration that his "con- science" probably will force him to get lower dairy price supports this spring.

The prospect evoked loud pro- tests from several dairy state congressmen. But Chairman George Aiken (R-Vt) of the Senate Agri- culture Committee said Benson had no choice and called it a mat- ter of law rather than conscience.

"This illustrates why it is imper- ative that we get a new farm law by April," Aiken said. "If we can do something effective with sur- pluses, the impact of prices will not be so severe."

Although attention shifted to the dairy problem, controversy contin- ued in Congress over President Ei- senhower's proposal to abandon rigid high price supports in favor of flexible price pegs. The presi- dent stood by his program at his news conference yesterday despite forecasts by some Republicans and most Democrats that it would be defeated.

May Quarantine 8 Cotton Counties

MEMPHIS (AP) — Federal officials took formal notice today of an emergency state quarantine placed on eight Arkansas counties to pre- vent spread of the dread pink boll- worm.

The emergency ban was imposed by Arkansas last fall after the pest showed up in two of the eight counties. The quarantine was ex- tended to other six because of their nearness to the counties where the cotton-destroying insect was found.

At today's meeting, spokesmen for the state said all precautions were being taken to prevent an infestation in other parts of the state. The precautionary measures include prison treatment of seed from the quarantined areas or outright destruction of the seed.

A report of the Memphis meet- ing will be forwarded to Wash- ington where steps could be taken to make the quarantine federally- regulated rather than state-im- posed only.

The State Plant Board ordered its quarantine after pink boll- worms were found in Miller and Hempstead counties.

Other counties affected are: Howard, Columbia, Lafayette, Little River, Nevada and Sevier.

Group Gets Grass Roots Opinion

MEMPHIS (AP) — The House Ag- riculture Committee files back to Washington today, briefcases load- ed with "grassroots" opinion and a potential Republican headache.

The GOP members obviously were worried about strong oppo- sition to the major plank in Presi- dent Eisenhower's proposed farm program — flexible price supports.

At present, the price level is a rigid 90 per cent of parity, a for- mula designed to fix a "fair" price for basic crops.

More than anything else, the parity issue popped up in testi- mony in some 20 committee hear- ings held during the 20,000-mile tour which ended here yesterday.

On the flexible scale, price floors would be lowered when sur- pluses develop and raised in time of shortages.

The President said the end re- sult of such a program would as- sure farmers of "a higher and steadier financial return" — a view- point which ran into sharp skepti- cism.

Two Highway Jobs Cost $1.1 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Ar- kansas Highway Commission today agreed to carry out two construc- tion projects at an estimated cost of $1,100,000.

One of the jobs — a five-mile bypass of Highway 70 and 70 around West Memphis — was con- tingent on free right-of-way being furnished by residents of the area to the state. The job would cost $640,000.

The second project involves con- struction of a bridge across the St. Francis River on Highway 25 between Green County, Ark., and Dunklin County, Mo. Arkansas share of the cost would be $460,000.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS — CHICAGO (AP) — Demand for wheat quickened on the Board of Trade today and the bread cereal raced out ahead of an otherwise sluggish grain market.

Early buying of wheat was based on reports West Germany might enter the market sooner than expected for American wheat. Later it was reported this buying would develop only if West Ger- many could not obtain her require- ments from France and Turkey.

Wheat sold off after the latter news but then came bounding back up again.

168 Moslems Are Under Arrest

CAIRO, Egypt (U)—A high official source said today 168 members of the Moslem Brotherhood have been arrested in the government's crackdown on the religious-political organization.

President Mohammed Naguib's government outlawed the once-powerful brotherhood in Egypt yesterday and launched a roundup of its leaders. Those taken into custody are under "temporary arrest," officials said today. They explained that no charges would be made pending an investigation.

The police swooped down on the brotherhood in Cairo, Alexandria, the Suez Canal zone and other key centers following an outbreak at Cairo University between its members and supporters of the government-backed Liberation Rally.

The brotherhood, claiming two million followers throughout the Middle East, strives for close government adherence to Islamic religious dictates in the Arab nations.

When Durkin quit last September he said he had worked for months with White House aides on changes which the President could ask Congress to make in the Taft-Hartley labor act.

He said he had agreement from the White House on 18 proposals but that the White House then backed out. Eisenhower then denied breaking his word to an associate.

On Monday Eisenhower, probably with the help of his new secretary of labor, James P. Mitchell, sent to Congress suggested changes which have been described as totaling 14.

Actually in some paragraphs of his message several ideas were expressed or suggested. An examination of the 19 changes Durkin talked about and the ones just offered by Eisenhower show:

The Durkin version and the Eisenhower message parallel each other in eight cases. Eisenhower offered three ideas not mentioned by Durkin. Durkin had eight suggestions ignored by Eisenhower: three of Eisenhower's suggestions overlap four of Durkin's.

Here are the eight parallel proposals:

Neither an employer nor a union has to negotiate on anything during the life of a contract unless the contract itself provides for a reopening.

Durkin Left Ideas on T-H Law Change

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower lost his first labor pilot when Secretary of Labor Martin P. Durkin, head of the AFL Plumbers Union, went over the side and rowed ashore.

When Durkin quit last September he said he had worked for months with White House aides on changes which the President could ask Congress to make in the Taft-Hartley labor act.

He said he had agreement from the White House on 18 proposals but that the White House then backed out. Eisenhower then denied breaking his word to an associate.

On Monday Eisenhower, probably with the help of his new secretary of labor, James P. Mitchell, sent to Congress suggested changes which have been described as totaling 14.

Actually in some paragraphs of his message several ideas were expressed or suggested. An examination of the 19 changes Durkin talked about and the ones just offered by Eisenhower show:

The Durkin version and the Eisenhower message parallel each other in eight cases. Eisenhower offered three ideas not mentioned by Durkin. Durkin had eight suggestions ignored by Eisenhower: three of Eisenhower's suggestions overlap four of Durkin's.

Here are the eight parallel proposals:

Neither an employer nor a union has to negotiate on anything during the life of a contract unless the contract itself provides for a reopening.

Employers in casual or temporary industries should be free to enter into pre-hiring agreements with unions.

Unions should be relieved of responsibility for unauthorized acts of their individual members.

Under the present law the National Labor Relations Board must ask for an injunction against a secondary boycott but this should be discretionary with the board.

Secondary boycotts should be permitted in certain cases, as when an employer does "farm-out" work for a struck employer.

Checkoff of union dues could continue until revoked in writing by an employee.

Requirements for a union's filing of information on its finances should be simplified.

Eisenhower urged clarification of the law so states won't be deprived of any rights to deal with state emergencies and announced a study is under way on conflicts between state and federal jurisdiction.

Durkin suggested clarification of state and federal jurisdiction.

This was the overlap:

Eisenhower asked power to tell fact-finding boards in national emergency strike threats to make recommendations on a settlement.

Durkin expressed hope that by this time the President could make some suggestions on national emergencies.

Eisenhower urged that employers as well as union leaders be required to take an anti-Communist oath. Durkin urged abolishing the oath entirely.

Eisenhower suggested a study to find better ways of safeguarding union welfare funds. Durkin suggested small employers be allowed to waive the right to participate in the fund handling.

When a strike is in progress Eisenhower urged barring another union or the employer from calling for an election to get rid of the striking union, for four months in the case of the other union and a year for the employer. Durkin's version would have forbade any such election for four months.

These were suggestions not in Durkin's version but made by Eisenhower:

The mediation service must step in whenever an injunction has been issued in a labor dispute; the act should be clarified on the free speech rights of employers and unions; the government should take a vote of workers, when a strike is involved, on whether they want the strike.

These were suggestions in Durkin's version but omitted by Eisenhower:

States should have jurisdiction over small employers who are now covered by the T-H Act but ignored by the NLRB; the act should be changed to let some people now classed as supervisors and therefore barred from unions become eligible for membership; an examination should be made of the way the NLRB administers the act; where there is a union shop contract the union should be allowed to fire a member who gives the employer confidential union information or is reasonably believed linked with communism; the act should say clearly a boss can notify a union about job openings so the union can send him applicants; the act should be clarified on job qualifications for employment, such as length of experience; unions and employers should be permitted to notify each other within 30 days, instead of the present 60, of intention to end a contract; during the life of a union shop contract there should be no vote among the employees on whether they want the union shop.

Insists Farm Program Is Political

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said today President Eisenhower's proposed new farm program is "faintly with politics."

"The proposal would result in lower price supports for cotton, wheat, corn and other products," Ellender said in an interview, but would continue present high supports for tobacco, promise them for wool through a new direct subsidy, and make no change for dairy products.

"It looks like someone figured out votes in planning this program," Ellender added.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he is certain the program is the right one, although he added its political feasibility is yet to be determined.

The President also said he does not regard himself as too smart politically but is confident that a shift from rigid to flexible farm price supports will help farmers and the nation's prosperity.

With a congressional battle mounting over the new farm proposals, Ellender predicted the Senate Agriculture Committee will line up 10-5 against it. He is the senior Democrat on the group.

Any such division might make it difficult for the President's congressional leaders to get action at this session. Chairman Hope (R-Kan.) and other members of the House Agriculture Committee have shown little enthusiasm for the proposals.

Critical Test for Ike on Treaty Power

WASHINGTON (U)—President

Eisenhower's efforts to tone down Sen. Bricker's amendment to limit treaty-making powers pointed him today toward a critical test of his strength in Congress.

The weight of political opinion here seemed to be that if Eisenhower fails to convince enough GOP lawmakers that the Ohio Republican's proposal is bad, he may suffer a defeat that would dilute his prestige and perhaps threaten major segments of his legislative program. Bricker at one time had enough avowed support in the Senate to put his amendment across, tend to sit out, for the time being, the backstage battle over Bricker's proposal to amend the Constitution to (1) spell out that treaties should not override domestic law and (2) give Congress power to regulate executive agreements not submitted to the Senate for ratification.

An influential Democratic senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, said he is not adverse to letting the Republicans out each other up politically on the issue.

He said it seemed obvious the Bricker amendment had been aimed originally at a Democratic president and that some GOP members were embarrassed now that a Republican was in the White House, adding:

"If Atty. Gen. Brownell and Secretary of State Dulles can't keep the Republicans lined up on the President's side, then maybe we Democrats will have to step into the breach later to save Eisenhower and the country."

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The third chapter of John's Gospel is notable for its great text, "God so loved the world." But this, as one will see by a careful reading is a part of what Jesus said to Nicodemus when the "ruler of the Jews" came to Jesus inquiring by night.

The fact that Nicodemus came under the cover of darkness has been held against him. Some have thought him cowardly because he did not come openly and by day.

The emphasis that Jesus put in the conversation upon the contrast between light and darkness (John 3:19-21) might lead some to this view especially if one saw in it any implied suggestion that Nicodemus was of the darkness rather than of the light.

Such a view however does not seem to me justified by the facts. On the contrary, his open defense of Jesus when assailed by his fellow Pharisees (John 7:50-52), and his assisting at the burial of Jesus (John 19:39), would indicate the earnestness and sincerity of Nicodemus' inquiry and a vital change in his life that the night visit to Jesus had made.

Why, then, did Nicodemus come by night? Because he was as yet an inquirer, not fully convinced and not quite ready to commit himself.

In a sense he showed great courage in coming to Jesus and possibly even more in coming by night.

If his coming in that way had become known to the rulers hostile to Jesus, its seeming implications would have been more serious than if he had come by day.

It was not the time if his coming, but the quality of his purpose, that counted in Nicodemus. He seems to have been in every way sincere. He was also officially inquiring apparently for something better than he had or knew but hemmed in by official and conventional Pharisaism.

If Jesus criticized him for his lack of knowledge as a "master of Israel," he honored the sincerity of his inquiry by a clear statement of the Gospel.

Whether or not Nicodemus accepted it all, their can be no doubt that he left that visit by night with a great deal to think about, and with a great deal of light where there had been darkness.

Since that original night-time visit, there have been many Nicodemuses, sincere men bound by religious association and circumstances conventional and comforting but with a sense of something richer than they had found, and groping toward new truth and freedom.

It is an experience when such men meet the Christ, and are led to say, "We never saw him after this fashion" (Mark 16:7).

Revolutions to enlightenment and grace have often brought men progress in individual lives, but also leadership, vitality and progress, establishing new eras of religious faith and life.

Great leaders have often come to intense and commanding convictions after groping through doubt and questioning.

Ponder Quads Two Years Old

MURFREESBORO (U)—Three young men and their sister, Dewey, Dahn, Dickey and Donna Ponder—passed their second birthday here yesterday.

They are the quadruplet children of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ponder. Each of the four, born Jan. 13, 1952, now is 32 inches tall. Donna and Danny weighed 25 pounds each yesterday; the others, a pound less.

The quadruplets had a birthday cake, but plans for an open house were cancelled because of bad weather.

certity of his inquiry by a clear statement of the Gospel.

Whether or not Nicodemus accepted it all, their can be no doubt that he left that visit by night with a great deal to think about, and with a great deal of light where there had been darkness.

Since that original night-time visit, there have been many Nicodemuses, sincere men bound by religious association and circumstances conventional and comforting but with a sense of something richer than they had found, and groping toward new truth and freedom.

It is an experience when such men meet the Christ, and are led to say, "We never saw him after this fashion" (Mark 16:7).

Revolutions to enlightenment and grace have often brought men progress in individual lives, but also leadership, vitality and progress, establishing new eras of religious faith and life.

Great leaders have often come to intense and commanding convictions after groping through doubt and questioning.

Highway to Act on Truck Deal

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — The Arkansas Highway Commission acts today on an apparent low bid of General Motors to supply the Highway Department with 160 new motor vehicles at a total cost of $207,499.40.

General Motors underbid another manufacturer and 14 Arkansas retailers when proposals were opened yesterday. It was the first time in recent years that manufacturers had made direct bids for selling vehicles to the state.

The purchase order is to include 80 station wagons, 52 half-ton pickup trucks and 28 sedan deliveries.
High bids totaling $16,669 were received for the 160 old vehicles, some of them dating from 1937, which the new equipment will replace.

Crockett Cross Town Motor Co. of Little Rock offered $12,649 for 108 of the old vehicles; Star Used Car Co. of Little Rock, $4,020 for the remaining 52.

A wise man looks both ways, B C and A D. He looks B C for wisdom and guidance but A D for character and usefulness. History is B C but Faith is A D. Any man should reach higher than his father because he stands on his father's shoulders. Performance, not pedigree, is the passport to posterity's appreciation. A Bible-reading, churching society is the fruit of God-fearing ancestry. Don't miss a service.
